

TNT

504 unit 2

Wilbert Colin Thatcher was a Canadian politician who killed his ex-wife. It was very shocking and people panicked, but Wilbert was never accused of murdering because of his power. After five years, he was caught and sent to prison.

When a corpse was found at the cinema, everybody panicked. The murderer must have tried to conceal the dead body, but apparently, he didn't have enough time to hide it very well. As the dismal reports of the homicide went on TV, everybody wanted to know who the murderer and the unlucky victim were.

What was found at the cinema?

How did people react when the corpse was found?

What did the Murderer try to do?

What did people want to know?

Later it was revealed that there's a witness. The witness was a homeless man who saw the murderer. The government allowed him to inhabit the vacant apartment. People wanted to know what the mayor would do. The mayor was behaved in a frigid manner after he said he had no idea what to do. When the mayor wanted to look strong and give a speech, a numb feeling came over and he passed out. After reclining by the warm fireplace, he had the power to stand on his feet.

What was revealed?

Who was the witness?

What did the government do to the homeless man?

How was the mayor behaved?

What happened to the mayor when he was giving a speech?

How did he get the power to stand on his feet?

The second corpse was found and then the third and the fourth. There was great peril in the city and people were all petrified. After two peaceful nights in the city, a house cleaner in the city hall shrieked, the fifth corpse was found.

Why were people petrified?

Why did the house cleaner shriek?

How did people feel in the city?

Nobody knew what was going on, but it stopped. At first people thought, the murderer got caught, but the police had no idea. It took five years to find the murderer.

The murderer was nobody but a senator. A politician who was sinister enough to kill his ex-wife to own her property after losing a great wager. Wilbert Colin Thatcher and Giger got divorced two years ago but his ex-wife's property tempted the senator to do such an action. He got caught and sent to prison. Nobody knew how he was caught but allegedly, he burned his ex-wife's dead body, but forgot sth important, her "wedding ring". When a reporter saw a picture of the corpse and noticed the senator's ex-wife's absence he asked the police to investigate.

Who was the murderer?

Why did he kill his ex-wife?

What tempted the senator to kill his ex-wife?

How was he caught?

Surprisingly, it was revealed that the senator's current lover let the reporters know who the murderer was. The senator was not even regretful, and said he did what everybody would have done which caused a great rage in the country. He had killed his ex-wife, but he never accepted that he had killed four more people.

It was never revealed what happened to those victims and how they were killed and the witness who once said he had seen the murderer was never found again.

Was the senator regretful?

Why wasn't he regretful?

What happened to the witness?